

Torah Academy Has Might Mock Team In Contest

The Torah Academy of Suffolk County in Commack, the only all-day Jewish high school in the county, defeated its opponents March 5 in a mock trial competition. The victory, Torah Academy's third, advances to team to the annual mock trial playoffs at the Suffolk County courthouse in Central Islip. Yael Sacks of Northport and David Fried of Plainview made strong showings in the March 5 competition. With the volunteer assistance of local attorneys Ed Taylor of Smithtown and Steve Sarisohn of Commack, the Torah Academy has become a powerhouse in Suffolk County mock trial competition.
